We need more diversity and competition in the media, not more consolidation. I've already found it difficult in the past few months to get a diverse array of opinions about: the Iraqi war, the environment, the economy. It would only get worse if a few corporations control the airwaves.
Thank you.